Steinbeis online

Fast, lean, smart the new Master of Business Administration.

Hybrid learning

All courses are available online. In addition, participation in face-to-face events in Germany or Switzerland can be booked. So you can choose whether you want to study in presence and have additional online support available to you, or only online, or make a separate decision for each module.

In times like these, which are characterized by a general fast pace of life, studies must also be adapted to these circumstances. That's why we designed the MBA in such a way that it can be completed extremely quickly with 60 credit points without sacrificing quality.

But the desire for greater flexibility is also a characteristic of this decade. With our hybrid studies, you study all over the world and bring the lecture hall to you. No matter when, no matter where, our degree program accompanies you and not the other way around. At the same time we offer the opportunity to work in small classes with our great lecturers.

Benefit from the highest quality standards made in Germany.

Our courses are state-recognized and certified. A large number of public and private universities throughout Germany rely on our online programs.

We were not only the first to offer an online course in Germany, but are still among the pioneers when it comes to quality and technology.

We have been successfully offering MBA programs for 20 years. With international top partners, with maximum customer satisfaction and always with new program ideas for demanding executives who understand and shape the future. For managers of a new generation who not only impress with specialist knowledge, but also with versatile leadership qualities. That's why we combine general management, leadership skills, innovation and change competence. Now its time for the next step. Our MBA goes international.

Our new MBA is made for entrepreneurs and entrepreneurial executives round the world. We still focus on strategy, management and leadership.

You benefit from the excellent quality of teaching by top lecturers and international experts as well as optional study trips to leading university partners worldwide.

Made for you in Germany!

What our Master of Business Administration is all about.

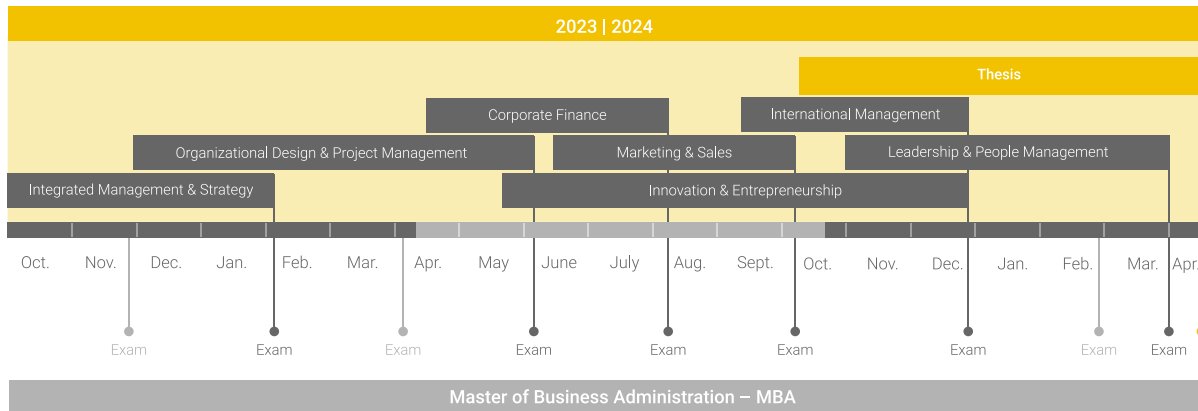

What you will learn in our course?

Strategic thinking for leaders. We place a clear focus on the areas of strategy, management and leadership. In addition, we convey an economic basis that serves to have the right tools for all types of economic challenges in the future.
